

The specialist in the field of medical and pharmaceutical translation

Founded in 1977 by Doctor Eric Kraus, KRAUS BIOMEDICAL has quickly established itself as an indispensable reference in the medical translation market.

In 1996 KRAUS BIOMEDICAL bolstered its translation capabilities by joining the leading translation group in France. Our structure therefore enables us to manage significant amounts of work within very short deadlines. For these translations, we have implemented a dedicated project team, composed of a project manager, specialized translators, and proofreaders.

To respond to pharmaceutical companies' growing needs for translation services, KRAUS BIOMEDICAL has established a global network of translators, enabling us to carry out our translations directly in the countries they are meant for.

The quality of our translations, which is guaranteed by our team of medically, clinically, and pharmaceutically trained translators, as well as almost 30 years of experience, allows us to meet your demands, while adapting the translation to the appropriate level for the public it is intended for.

Welcome to our site!